The BumpItUP Collection

Give your projects a LIFT with this innovative twist on dry embossing. Now you can create a raised image that has been stamped and colored, too!

It's fun to make these charming, dimensional cards with our BumpItUP™ clear stamp sets and coordinating thick plastic templates.

1. Stamp and color image as desired.
2. Place template onto light box with black side facing up. If desired, tape down template to prevent shifting.
3. Turn cardstock so stamped side is facing down. Rub the back with wax paper so the stylus can glide better.
4. Line up corresponding parts of the stamped image with the same section on the template. Trace around the edges of the template design with the stylus, and then lightly rub the stylus in the center of the design to give even more of a raised effect.
5. Repeat for the remaining sections of the image, until all parts you want raised have been dry embossed. Turn over your cardstock, and admire your finished piece!
